

Trees are a main element in nature:

they let us breathe,
they are grounded,
their roots hold the soil together, they provide shelter for so many animals, they change and adapt to the different seasons, they come in all colors, they are resilient and adapt to their environment, they live hundreds of years, they are wise as they hold stories from the past.